Election snafu

Candidate wants run-off

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Imagine Jerry Jackson's disappointment Tuesday when the 5th Ward aldermanic candidate discovered that his wife didn't vote for him.

But the slight was not a reflection of his wife's opinion of him. It was the result of confusion at the polls.

Jackson

Jackson thinks there should be an investigation to see if the problem was wide spread. He called for a run-off election between apparent winner Larry Blackwell and current alderman Eddie Asadorian.

Jackson said Wednesday night that his wife had every intention to vote for him Tuesday at Granite City Township Hall, the combined polling place for precincts five and six.

But his wife was mistakenly given a 3rd Ward ballot.

"She voted for mayor and the other citywide offices. Then she turned the page and my name wasn't there and she knew something wasn't right," Jackson said.

Part of the confusion stems from the fact that residents of the odd side of the 2100 block of State Street live in precinct 6 — in the 5th Ward; while residents on the even side of the street live in precinct 5 — in the 3rd Ward.

Jackson's wife was given a 3rd Ward ballot, even though she lives in the 5th Ward.

"My wife and I live in the same house," Jackson said. "But we were given different ballots.

"How many others were like that? That could have influenced the election."

Jackson conceded that the mix-up would have no impact on his third place finish — he fell 99 votes shy of Blackwell's 255 votes.

But, he said, it could have cost Asadorian the election.

Asadorian collected 240 votes — 15 less than Blackwell.

"Who knows how many people got the wrong ballot?," Jackson asked. "I know my wife was not the only one. It could have gone either way for (Blackwell and Asadorian) and there should be a run-off between those two. It would be the only way to make it right."

Jackson said he reported the snafu to election judges, to County Clerk Debbie Saltich and to Asadorian.

Saltich confirmed that Jackson's wife was given the wrong ballot. But, she said, it was the result of a coding error

Prostitution charges filed

By Bob Slate

Six women were charged with prostitution last week for allegedly offering sexual favors in exchange for money in Granite City.

Five of the women were charged in special misdemeanor warrants. The sixth was charged in a felony warrant because she allegedly possessed cocaine.

Barbara D. Wright, 33, of Washington, Ill., was charged with possession of a controlled substance and prostitution in a felony warrant issued Tuesday. She is alleged to have less than 15 grams of a substance containing cocaine and to have offered oral sex to an undercover police officer for $20 in a Feb. 10 incident.

Bond on the warrant is $15,000.

Rezoning for Walgreen advances

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

A proposed Walgreen store on Nameoki Road is one step closer to becoming a reality.

On Wednesday, the Granite City Council voted to have an ordinance prepared that will change the zoning of the Nameoki Road property to C-5 commercial from its present residential classification.

While the proposal was approved unanimously, several aldermen expressed concern about the lack of drainage in a residential area directly behind the proposed site.

"I am not opposed to this (rezoning), but I am concerned with some problems that have resulted from past developments in that area," said 7th Ward Alderman Kim Affolter.

At a hearing of the city's Planning and Zoning Commission last month, several residents of Fair Oaks Drive complained about stormwater drainage

Founder is retiring

Catholic Charities continues good work

By Michelle Duell
Staff writer

After 47 years of service to Catholic Charities of Granite City, one of its founders, Mary Alyce Beardslee, is retiring May 1.

Dave Daly, who has been with the Granite City office for 20 years, will replace her.

The Illinois Department of Children and Family services recently recognized Beardslee with a special plaque for her efforts in placing children with special needs in homes, and the Madison County Board recently recognized here for dedicated work.

Catholic Charities works with IDCF on an ongoing basis to find foster homes for children with special problems who otherwise might remain in residential institutions, Beardslee said. It also performs other services.

"I've been wearing five hats," Beardslee said of her work. "I do the adoptions, the problem pregnancy, the post legals (searches for birth parents and adopted persons to learn each others' identities), foster care supervisor and area director, too."

Her work covers southern Madison and Bond counties.

Beardsley's husband, Jason, also was involved in Catholic Charities. He served as executive in charge of the Alton office until 1987, when he retired.

Catholic Charities in Alton now includes area director, Rick Faccin, and Mary Hendricks, who supervises the treatment foster program.

Catholic Charities, Hendricks said, provides more consistent structure for problem children when it places them with foster parents.

At this time, Catholic Charities in Alton has a shortage of foster parents, she said, adding that 10 children are on a waiting list for families.

"Catholic Charities in Alton gets two to three referrals a week from IDCF," she said. "We have a number of children in emergency shelters and institutions. They need a family environment because they need to learn to deal with their severe problems."

Foster parents in Illinois earn a good, tax-free salary, which is provided by Catholic Charities through a contract with IDCF, Faccin said. But they do have to know how to deal with a problem child.

"The foster parents receive 20 hours of training in modifying behavior" before a child begins living with them, so they are prepared, Hendricks said.

Behavior problems include non-compliance with authority figures, attention deficit disorder, running away and sexual "acting out," she said.

Prospective foster parents learn how to work with these children through a program at Catholic Charities that teaches them through role playing, written and teaching activities, Hendricks said.

The Alton office covers Madison, Macoupin, Calhoun and Jersey counties.

Parents interested in helping a foster child may call the Catholic Charities office in Alton at (618) 462-0634, or the Catholic Charities office in Granite City at (618) 877-1184.

Student Employment Week being observed on BAC campus

> 'Our student workers are a blessing. They help ease the load of the staff and provide assistance where it's needed.'
> — Connie Witsberger

Working as much as 6,040 hours each semester, Belleville Area College's more than 300 student workers are the grease that helps keep the wheels of BAC turning smoothly.

In acknowledgment of this hard work and dedication, BAC is observing National Student Employment week, April 6-12, with a photo display to be hung across from the Belleville Campus cafeteria.

"Our student workers are a blessing. They help ease the load of the staff and provide assistance where it's needed," said Connie Witsberger, financial aid and student employment assistant. "Student workers can be found in virtually every department of BAC — from the bookstore and admissions to the print shop and faculty offices."

The primary beneficiaries of the student worker program, which is a form of financial aid, are the student themselves, though, said Witsberger. Nearly half of the students employed by BAC are hired under the Federal Work Study Program, in which the government pays 75 percent of the students' salaries. The remainder is paid by the departments for which the students work.

The other "regular" student workers are paid primarily by the departments for which they work.

Work study is ideal for students because it allows them to get job experience and make some money while going to school. Also, the flexible scheduling to accommodate classes is convenient.

To qualify for the student employment program, students must be enrolled for at least six credit hours each semester, be a student in good standing working towards a degree or certificate, and cannot have defaulted on a loan.

For more information, contact the BAC financial aid office at 235-2700, extension 288.

Townships to hold annual meetings this week

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Residents can help shape the future of services provided by their township government by attending annual meetings this week.

State law requires townships to hold an annual meeting on the second Tuesday in April. The meeting is designed to allow residents to provide suggestions about the services they need.

"This is a unique opportunity for citizens to shape their future. Your township is like a ball of clay," said Nameoki Township Supervisor Ken Davis.

"With the strong ingredients of a government that began in the 1600s, you can shape the township to fit the current and future needs of your community."

Davis said that township government, established in Providence, R.I., in 1636, is the oldest unit of government continuing to serve the North American continent. Township government was established in Illinois in 1850.

"Township government is the last true democratic form of government in North America," Davis said. "The annual town meeting demonstrates the Declaration of Independence's statement that 'government should derive its just powers from the consent of the governed'."

Davis encouraged residents to attend the Nameoki Township meeting at 6 p.m. Tuesday at the township hall, 4250 Illinois 162.

"Anyone who is a registered voter in the township is an elector who has a voice and a vote at the town meeting," Davis said. "We invite all who are interested in our democratic form of government to take part in this historic and time-honored event."

There are more than 1,400 townships in Illinois with 11,000 elected officials.

"The annual town meeting is an opportunity for you, the voter, to actively participate in shaping the future of the township," Davis said.

REAL ESTATE
by Jerry Besserman & Tina Stanley
REALTORS

LENDING A PARENTAL HAND

Prior to October, 1996, generous parents who lent money to their children for down payments on FHA loans on their first homes were technically forbidden from doing so. At that time, parents who gave loans to children and other family members applying for FHA mortgages had to certify in writing that their financial aid was more of a gift than a loan. Since October of last year, however, Congress voted to change that policy so parents could give their children unsecured personal loans (with or without interest) or loans secured by the new homes. These new rules allow parents to be more above-board about their intentions. The old policy forced many to call loans "gifts". Now, parents can be more forthcoming with their help and enable their children to better take advantage of today's favorable mortgage interest rates.

We keep current with the latest real estate guidelines and can advise you on how to secure the mose favorable mortgage rate. We will review your personal tastes, budget, and neighborhood preferences in order to determine the home that is best for you. Call us at 877-7653 for honesty and professionalism. Tina can be paged at 782-4300. Jerry can be paged at 782-9847. The office is conveniently located at 2126 Pontoon Rd.

NOTE: According to Fannie Mae, coming up with the down payment and closing costs remains the biggest stumbling block to homeownership for first-time home buyers.

35 percent voted Tuesday

This year's municipal elections started off with a high number of absentee ballot voters, but overall turnout reached only 35.15 percent of registered voters countywide.

A few areas with strong races had better turnout, such as Glen Carbon with 45.6 percent and Edwardsville with 44 percent.

But even in Alton, where Don Sandidge soundly defeated Mayor Bob Towse by a 17 percent margin, only about 38 percent of registered voters cast ballots.

"The turnout was a real disappointment for me," said County Clerk Debbie Saltich. "I just don't understand why people don't take more interest in local government."

Saltich had predicted a high voter turnout based on 1,700 absentee ballots that had been taken out countywide.

Saltich said she believes that candidates only hurt themselves and the democratic process when they resort to negative campaigning.

And voters, she said, should realize that local elections are often more important than national ones.

"If you have a problem, who will you call, the president's office? No, you're going to call City Hall."

Unofficial election results were still being tabulated, analyzed and printed out at the Madison County Clerk's Office Wednesday morning.

Saltich said the only glitch suffered Tuesday night was with the television screen system used to display vote totals at the county Administration Building.

"We were trying to feed precinct totals into the display system for the first time this year and we overloaded the computer system."

She said the problem did not affect vote-counting but merely left some people watching totals on monitors without instant updates.

Clerk's office personnel finished counting by midnight and went home by 1 a.m., which is fairly early for a race with so many candidates.

"This was an expensive election," Saltich said. "There were so many ballot combinations."

The Venice Board of Aldermen last week agreed to sponsor a table for $140 and purchase $20 tickets for its police officers who will be attending a May 12 dinner sponsored by the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

The dinner is being held to show appreciation to police officers for their services, Venice Police Chief James Newsome said.

Several hundred officers from the area and their families are expected to attend the dinner, which will be held at 6:30 p.m. at the St. Gregory Armenian Community Center, 10 Colonial Drive, in Granite City, Newsome said.

This is the seventh year that the Chamber has honored the officers, he said.

problems and expressed concerns that the Walgreen development could aggravate the problems.

On Wednesday, Affolter and 4th Ward Alderman Nancy Sanders both suggested that the developers of the Walgreen store could alleviate an existing drainage problem for Rode Park and the subdivision behind the store — at little or no additional cost.

"I would like an assurance the (Walgreen) engineering plans will be reviewed (by someone on the city staff)," Affolter said.

Building Inspector Glen Hollis said stormwater ponding in the park and subdivision is the result of two problems: water does not drain to a catch basin because the outlet, located on park district property, is at a higher elevation than the surrounding land; and that the storm drain may have a partial blockage.

"I would like to discuss some possible solution with the park district," Hollis said, adding that the Walgreen engineering plans would have to be reviewed and approved by the city before construction can begin on the project.

The proposed Walgreen "superstore" is to be the largest in the Metro East. The plans for the building call for 83 parking spaces next to the 16,380-square-feet building, with room for future expansion.

Mayor Ron Selph said the development will improve the aesthetics of the area, spur further retail development and increase property values and sales taxes.

The rezoning ordinance will be on the City Council agenda April 15.

A grand opening for the store has been planned for Nov. 1.

Wilson on TV show

Pontoon Beach Mayor Glen Wilson will be featured on "State of the City," a half-hour cable television program to be shown throughout April on Charter Communications cable television Channel 3.

The program will be shown Saturdays and Sundays at 7:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m., as well as Mondays at 6:30 p.m.

Wilson will discuss future growth and development in the village, as well as goals. Collinsville Mayor Vince Kutzera will also appear on the program.

Colloquia series continues

The Gerontology Colloquia Series, which is co-sponsored by the Gerontology Program and the School of Education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, will present its 13th colloquia on April 9.

"Alternative Housing and Living Arrangements for the Elderly: Retirement and Life Care Communities," with guest speakers Wes Barber, executive director of the Eden Village Retirement Community; Jean Fuchs, assistant director of the Eden Village Retirement Community; and Dorothy Norfleet, apartment manager of the Eden Village Retirement Community; will be held at the Eden Retirement Center at 300 S. Station Road in Glen Carbon from 6 to 8:45 p.m.

Effects of aging to be discussed

Fran Tucker, assistant professor at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, will discuss "The Effects of Normal Aging and Disease on Speech and Language Communication" on April 9 at the 12th Dialogue with Seniors Citizens program of the spring semester.

The program, scheduled from 1 to 3 p.m., is scheduled in the University Center. It is free and open to the public.

A board overview of speech and language changes accompanying normal aging and the effects of disease on communication will be presented in this dialogue.

"The miscoding was a mistake by this office and I take full responsibility," Saltich said. "When you're working with 150,000 voters, that kind of mistake can happen. I wish people would call us when things like that happen so we can correct it."

Saltich said Jackson's wife was not allowed to vote again with the appropriate ballot because it had already been placed in the ballot box before she reported the problem.

"If she had told the judges before the ballot was put in the box, we could have corrected it. But by then it was too late," Saltich said.

Committee endorses plan for pay raises

Three Madison County officeholders are asking for 36 percent raises over the next five years, and County Board members took the first step toward granting the requests Thursday.

The board's personnel and finance committees recommended increasing the pay for the sheriff, county clerk and treasurer from their current level of $56,000 to $76,398 in 2002. If approved by the full County Board, the raises would not take effect until after the next election.

The committees also proposed boosting the salary of the County Board chairman from $50,000 to $60,000 in 2000. The post is now held by Rudy Papa, D-Bethalto.

Papa said of his position's proposed raise: "Certainly, the board set the chairman's salary as they saw fit. I don't see that as my raise, I see it as the next chairman's raise, whoever that may be."

And County Board members didn't forget themselves in the day's work; they voted to raise members' salaries by 4.5 percent every year until 2002, with the raises alternating each year for half the board members. Each of the board's 29 members earns an annual salary of $9,500; the plan would boost their compensation to $11,114 by 2002.

Adding it all up, the raise package proposed Thursday would come to $116,000 over the next five years, not counting additional increases for the chairman's office after the year 2000.

The raise package faces a final vote by the full board at its next regular meeting at 9:30 a.m. April 16 at the Administration Building, 157 N. Main St.

County Board member Jack Frandsen, D-Alhambra, was the only member out of 10 to vote against the raises.

"I was elected to represent the taxpayers," Frandsen said after the meeting. "I feel I would be trying to hoodwink them if I voted for a salary increase 18 months before it would take effect."

But other board members said approving the raises early could mean a more competitive field of candidates will apply for the next election.

"People think we're doing this for the people in office now," said Bill Little, D-Alton, chairman of the Finance Committee. "We're really doing this for the people who will be in office next term."

Another reason given for the proposed raises was that similar increases were approved last summer for the county auditor, circuit clerk, coroner and recorder of deeds.

Board members also pointed out they approved raises averaging 4.5 percent for 17 department heads in December. "If we're going to give department heads 4.5 percent, it's only fair we do the same for county officeholders, too," said board member Alan Dunstan, D-Troy.

Treasurer Bill Aery attended the meeting along with County Clerk Debbie Saltich and Sheriff Bob Churchich.

After the meeting, Aery acknowledged the salaries were getting high, but he said they should attract qualified candidates.

Aery, the only Republican countywide officeholder, voted against similar salary increases for the other four officeholders as a County Board member last summer.

"Being as the other officeholders are getting their raises, I think these should be the same," Aery said.

Aery's predecessor, John Shimkus, made headlines by returning more than $20,000 in raises during his tenure as treasurer. Shimkus, R-Collinsville, is now the U.S. congressman from the 20th District.

The committees also recommended approval of a $5,000 stipend for Regional Superintendent of Schools Harry Briggs and a $3,250 stipend for his assistant.

In addition to his salary, Churchich receives a $4,000 stipend as the county's "supervisor of public safety."

Kenny Bone, Granite City

"I think cloning is morally wrong and that it should not be attempted."

Stephanie Paul, Granite City

"I don't like the idea of scientists cloning animals. I think it's wrong. I also think scientists will try cloning humans in the future."

Park district plans trip to Wisconsin

On May 19 through 22 the Granite City Park District will sponsor a trip to scenic Door County, Wisconsin, often referred to as the "Cape Cod of the Midwest."

With more shoreline than any other county in the United States, the area is alive with woodlands, sandy beaches and picturesque villages with art centers and craft shops. A fifth generation native will act as step-on guide for the group after hostessing breakfast in her farm house. The magnificent scenery of both shorelines of Lake Michigan and Green Bay will be enjoyed while touring. Lunch will be at a restaurant where goats graze on the roof and dinner will be a legendary Door County Fish Boil with it's kettles atop outdoor fires. Lodging will be in Sturgeon Bay with the second day to include visits to a coffee company, candle factory and dried cherry factory.

Enroute to Door County the first night's lodging will be in Manitowoc, Wisconsin at the Inn on Maritime Bay located on the shores of Lake Michigan and adjacent to the Wisconsin Maritime Museum, the largest on the Great Lakes. Two outstanding dinners will be served while in Manitowoc.

After departing for home, the group will visit the Pine River Dairy which specializes in fresh butter and Wisconsin cheese, and the Kohler Design Center in Kohler, Wisconsin, which is the home to 36,000 square feet of dynamic design concepts for the kitchen and bath.

The cost of the trip is $351 for a single room, $269 each for a double room, $230 per person for a triple and $210 each for a quad; and includes eight meals. The entire amount must be paid upon registering, which will being on Thursday, April 10 at 8 a.m. at the Wilson Park Ice Rink. One person can register for one room of one to four persons. Proof of residence must be presented for each person unless husband and wife. Nonresidents may call the Wilson Park office, 877-3059, after 12 noon on April 10 and will be notified of availability one week later. Nonresidents who go to the ice rink will be placed on the waiting list at that time. If more information is needed, call Sue Champion at her home or the Wilson Park office.

Illinois avoided tainted strawberries

By Ron Wisdom
Staff writer

> 'We received a bulletin from the state child nutrition program confirming that Illinois did not receive any of the tainted food.'
> — Roger Tidwell
> Marriott official

Students in area school districts apparently are not in danger of contracting hepatitis A from tainted strawberries sent to schools across the nation, officials said Friday.

Thousands of students and educators in six states have been exposed to the virus through frozen strawberries that were shipped through the government's school lunch program.

However, U.S officials said Wednesday that Illinois was not among the states that received shipments of the strawberries.

Dennis Craft, Collinsville Unit 10's administrative assistant, said the school was informed that Marriott School Food Services, which provides lunches for Unit 10, did not purchase any of the tainted fruit.

"We received a memo from Sheila Magee (the district's food coordinator) that there was an all-clear sign for Illinois," Craft said.

Magee could not be reached for comment Friday.

Roger Tidwell, food service coordinator for Marriott in Belleville, confirmed Friday that Illinois schools were not at risk.

"We received a bulletin from the state child nutrition program confirming that Illinois did not receive any of the tainted food," Tidwell said. "So no one in Illinois should be getting sick from bad strawberries."

Initially, Illinois was thought to be one of 17 states that had received shipments. However, government officials later confirmed that many of those shipments did not have the same lot numbers as those sent to Michigan.

The tainted strawberries were grown in Mexico but were mislabeled as grown and processed in the United States. The Department of Agriculture's school lunch program requires the sole use of U.S.-grown products.

Cases of the virus so far have only been reported in Michigan. However, strawberries with the same lot number were sent to schools in Arizona, California, Georgia, Iowa and Tennessee.

Symptoms of hepatitis A appear about four weeks after exposure and include fatigue, stomach pains, vomiting, fever, dark urine and jaundice.

The virus can be transmitted orally, through human waste or by food handlers who have failed to wash their hands after bathroom use.

Nursing home costs made more affordable

Brian Mulhall

In a reversal of its usual form, Congress has recently passed a tax law that will actually save the middle class money by making nursing home costs a bit more affordable. The new law accomplishes this is three ways:

- It excludes the benefits paid by long-term care insurance policies from income,
- It makes the premiums on such policies tax deductible, and
- It makes the out-of-pocket expenses of long-term care tax deductible, in each case within certain limits.

Under the new law, benefits paid under a "qualified" long-term care insurance contract will generally be excluded from income tax purposes. The excluded amount will be capped at $175 per day in most cases. In order to be "qualified," a contract must meet certain requirements relating to the nature of the services covered and the medical condition of the insured. These rules apply to policies issued beginning in 1997, but benefits paid under older policies will also qualify in many cases.

Furthermore, beginning in 1997, premiums paid on a qualified long-term care policy will qualify as medical expenses for tax purposes, up to a maximum amount that increases with age.

For example, the limit is $200 per year for someone age 40 or under but $2,500 per year for someone over age 70. The premium amount (limited as indicated), as well as any out-of-pocket qualified long-term care expenses, will then be added to the individual's other medical expenses for the year (medical expenses are currently deductible to the extent they exceed 7.5% of "adjusted gross income" for the year).

Long-term care insurance allows a person to purchase a certain type and level of benefit care for a certain premium amount.

As such, it is perhaps the only reasonably stable, reliable option in a sea of changing government rules under Medicaid and similar programs. Favorable tax treatment for benefits and premiums is a welcome additional reason to consider this type of policy.

Estate planning service expanded

Stephen J. Doroghazi Jr., standing, and Kevin G. Nicol

Through the combined efforts of Stephen J. Doroghazi Jr., Attorney at Law; Nicol & Associates Inc., an independent financial services agency; and Cardinal Investments Inc.; a registered investment advisor, member NASD & SIPC, estate planning services are being expanded.

"Many people do not even have a last will and testament, and we've found a great deal of those that do, are out dated and/or don't include a power of attorney, medical directive or living will, which are as, if not more, important." said Doroghazi. "Depending on the size of a person's estate, many people should consider a revocable living trust or family limited partnership to help avoid probate and it's potential cost, time delays and publicity. Through the volume produced and the combined efforts of the Nicol Agency and Cardinal Investments, we can produce quality documents at a reasonable cost while fulfilling an enormous need."

Doroghazi,a 1971 Granite City High School graduate, received his bachelor of arts and juris doctor degrees from St. Louis University and is a member of the state Bars of Illinois and Missouri and the Estate Planning Council of St. Louis. Upon his graduation, he acquired substantial insurance claims and in-house litigation experience for a Fortune 500 company located in the St. Louis Area.

In addition to his legal background, Doroghazi is also a registered representative and principal with Cardinal Investments, Inc., and an executive vice president and associate of Kevin G. Nicol & Associates, Inc., offering insurance and related services.

Nicol, a 1970 Granite City High School graduate, graduated cum laude with bachelors and masters degrees in education from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. While teaching in area schools for 11 years, Nicol started his agency in 1981 and incorporated in 1991 as an independent financial services agency and registered firm in Illinois and Missouri.

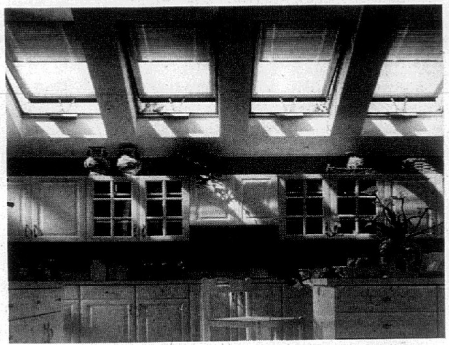
Skylights add more than light to room



Sunscreening accessories offer increased energy efficiency and additional control of light, temperature and privacy.

Do you remember the old-fashioned skylight in the movie "Barefoot in the Park" that actress Jane Fonda found so charming and romantic? And how it was a source of marital discord in the turn-of-the-century apartment she shared with her conservative attorney husband played by Robert Redford?

Fonda's character appreciated how the natural light from the skylight brightened their tiny, otherwise dreary, flat; while Redford's character would dwell on the fact that this first generation skylight would leak when it rained or snowed keeping him awake nights.

Fortunately, today we can experience the beauty of outdoor views that skylights afford without having to contend with the elements. Manufacturers have taken the suspense of skylight performance by designing them to be leak-proof, energy efficient and durable enough to withstand extreme weather conditions.

✓ Sunlight and views dramatically transform interiors. "Abundant natural light can do wonders in accentuating a home's interior, furnishings and architecture," said Gary Hyman, marketing manager for Velux-America Inc., a manufacturer of roof windows and skylights. "Light and outdoor views can make a small space appear larger, draw attention to a special location, and create an open, spacious atmosphere for any style home."

Skylights are the perfect choice for capturing sunlight and outdoor views because by their very design they open a home to much more light than do vertical windows and doors. In addition, skylights allow beautiful clear views of the sun, moon and stars while also preserving privacy. Ventilating skylights also add to comfort and proper moisture balance in a home by allowing fresh air to circulate and releasing the warm, moist air from cooking and bathing.

✓ Weathertight installation insures protection against the elements. The key to complete skylight enjoyment is the proper installation of a quality product. Flashing is the waterproofing material, usually aluminum, that prevents the entry of moisture from around skylights and other roof openings. For the most durable weathertight skylight installation, L-shaped step flashing pieces are interwoven with the roofing material round the skylight for a completely watertight seal without caulk or mastics.

✓ Glass is the clear choice. Insulated glass skylights offer a number of practical and aesthetic benefits that other materials just can't match. Not only do glass skylights provide an undistorted, clear view to the outdoors, they also feature a low exterior profile that does not interfere with the roofline. Available with Low-E coatings and laminates, insulated glass also offers excellent energy efficiency.

Unlike plastic-based bubble skylights glass skylights do not react to the sun's rays thus preserving a perfectly clear view.

✓ Making way for the sun. Even if there is a ceiling and attic space between the room and the blue sky beyond, a skylight can still bring in light and ventilation with the simple construction of a skylight shaft.

Basically, this includes cutting the roof opening for the skylight, cutting a larger opening in the ceiling below, and then framing, insulating and finishing.

Paint that drab room

Whether you're putting the finishing touches on a newly remodeled kitchen or bath, or simply looking to spruce up a drab room, painting can enhance any decorating project.

"Painting is one of the easiest ways to give a room a new look without spending a fortune," said Tom Segreto, Sears paint buyer.

Of the four basic steps to painting — paint selection, applicator selection, surface preparation, and application technique — surface preparation is perhaps the most time consuming, yet most essential, steps in the process. Taking the time to properly prepare the surface pays off with a longer lasting and nicer looking finished product.

Here are six of the most popular interior painting tips the Sears paint pros offer consumers:

1. Latex Paint Can Be Used Over Oil And Vice Versa When Following The Five Steps Of Surface Preparation

Dull glossy surfaces, wash, rinse, repair defects and prime.

2. Primers And Paints Are Not Interchangeable

Primers are specially formulated to provide a sound surface to top coat. Primers help to seal the surface, preventing stains from bleeding through the paint film and providing adhesion for the top coat. Paints beautify and protect a surface.

3. Paints Formulated To Cover In One Coat Must Be Applied Properly

To ensure one-coat coverage on most surfaces 1) follow label instructions; 2) apply paint at correct spread rate to clean and sealed surface; 3) use a good quality applicator matched to surface texture; 4) apply paint using proper application technique.

4. Prepare Interior Surfaces Properly Before Applying Paint

Follow five steps to prepare the surface 1) clean surface thoroughly; 2) rinse all detergent from surface; 3) patch all holes and cracks; 4) dull glossy surfaces with sandpaper, wipe off sanding dust; 5) prime all bare, porous and/or stained areas.

5. Paint A Room From Top To Bottom

Paint the ceiling first, walls second, and trim last. Paint the corners and around trim with a trim brush or pad. Paint larger areas on the ceiling and walls with a roller or paint stick. Finish the job by painting the trim with a trim brush or pad.

6. Use A Good Applicator To Get Professional Looking Results

A good applicator will hold and spread an even, level coat of paint.

Renovation can cure your old house blues

It's a battle most home owners eventually struggle with — move or remodel? Whether children are outgrowing living space or a home has antiquated, dilapidated infrastructure, remodeling can offer limitless possibilities and can be more satisfying than packing it up for the "sterility" of new construction.

Ron Briddell of Briddell Construction in Collinsville is experienced at remodeling, which is the bulk of his business.

"We see people spending more recreational time at home, perhaps seeking solace from our frantic schedules," Briddell said. "This being the case, it simply makes sense to want a home environment that is a welcoming shelter from a noisy world outside. I tell people to concentrate on their high-usage areas."

It's no accident that a home's hardest working rooms — kitchens and baths — are the most commonly remodeled areas. Today, they are bigger, better and loaded with personality, and add value to a home.

Depending on your budget, you can lavishly renovate to include today's high tech "smart" appliances in the kitchen, or indulge in over-sized tubs or hydra-massage showers in the bathroom. But, if your kitchen and bath plans are more modest, simply update a focal point — sink, tub, countertops, lighting, etc. Whatever your plans entail, functionality and practicality ought to be the key.

Kitchens are no longer a cook's fortress — a relic of the past. Rather, like it or not, kitchens have become the center of gatherings. Today's guests gather around kitchen islands like guests once gathered at pow-wow campfires.

"There are a variety of kitchen looks currently in vogue — modern, new industrial and arts and crafts. Naturally, if and when choosing one of these looks, personality ought to dictate the outcome. There are no boundaries in creativity, but harmony is a wise guideline," Briddell said.

Professional cooks, who are having a significant influence in kitchen remodeling trends, stress the importance of creating a kitchen which is practical and functional.

Since a kitchen may double as a gathering point for guests, plan one in which everyone can take part in activities without tripping over one another. The practical kitchen, which comes from the commercial kitchen experience, is "zoned" into areas for eating, food preparation, cooking and clean-up.

Purchasing new appliances can also change the look of a kitchen. Don't simply shop for a refrigerator with adequate storage or ice and water through the door. Late model refrigerators are "smart," which means they accommodate the way in which you work. A new trend is refrigeration units, several smaller refrigerators, which can be strategically placed throughout zones in the kitchen. They have a variety of drawers, bins and shelves, maintain constant temperature and can fit inconspicuously into any kitchen.

State-of-the-art ovens offer self-cleaning features, unexposed heating elements, no preheating features and numerous cooking features.

"New cabinets, which have been the cornerstone of the kitchen remodeling industry, is a great way to change the look of your kitchen," Briddell said.

Over the past 40 years cabinets have gone from steel to wood. Today, the most popular wood choice is oak, with maple and ash increasing in popularity.

Could anything ever replace the ultimate in personal relaxation — a nice, long hot bath? Even though it may never be replaced, there are a lot of options to make a bath better through remodeling.

"Updating a bathroom can result in rich rewards if your goal is to create a serene haven," Briddell said. "Even though space may be limited, there are many innovative new tub and shower products which offer invigorating and soothing hydra-massage, while also smartly heeding water conservation."

Toilets now conserve water and are attractive. Bathroom products in general come in new shapes and sizes that offer sophisticated styling and the latest plumbing technology.

HOROSCOPE

Sunday, April 6

It's the last day of the Pisces moon cycle, and its introverted nature gives you an opportunity to reach inside and make amends before the new moon tomorrow. Energy and ambition are turned way up with no chance of running empty, since close observation of yourself will free up stored strength and energy. Your love is attracted to the person you are.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Work travel brings an unexpected response from a friend. Stay out of a domestic argument between neighbors. A loan is repaid to you, or an item borrowed quite some time ago returns.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). An acquaintance leads to romance if you put out the right signals. Allow a child to bend the rules a bit. Another Taurus is involved in a community or athletic event with you. Resist snacking on sweets.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Getting your fair share in a matter involving family members is done by stating your needs clearly. A Leo is attracted to you but is too shy to tell you. Relax and get quality leisure time by renting a movie or reading a good book.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Think of creative ways to show your love how much you care. Your artistic talent is recognized by a professional or other influential person. Write down all options when you are trying to solve a difficult financial matter.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). You may be reunited with relatives who have not seen you in quite some time. If the attention from a possible new love is too much right now, tell this person to step back a little. Thank a friend for helping you with a recent problem.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (April 6). This month is an adventure, and you are up for it. Rise to the occasion and luck will drop into your lap. In early May, you will get the opportunity to try a new career path — take it. Meet challenges in June head on. Travel is best in September, especially with a Leo. Your luckiest signs for love are Pisces and Scorpio.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Double check all figures in your personal budget. You may have more money than you think. Settle a dispute with a relative by sitting down and talking it out. Allow a Capricorn to mediate. Start thinking about future travel plans.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Possessiveness on your part could push away a current love. Give this person some space and you will grow closer eventually. Honor a friend's request not to offer financial assistance. Involve a Taurus in a social event.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Be honest with yourself about how you really feel toward your love. Phone an old friend or colleague and find out about a possible new career opportunity. Someone is excited about a creative partnership with you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Level with a friend about information you know regarding his or her past — you can help this person grow. A friend needs your help with a domestic or athletic activity. Realize your limitations and ease up on yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Vacation plans made now will be a smashing success. Involve a Virgo. A friend invites you to a gala social affair — accept only if you have the energy to mix and mingle. A child returns your good deed by making you a gift.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You may soon have to choose between two loves — decide with your heart. A colleague drops by with some startling information about the boss. You may have outgrown a friendship — work hard to figure out if that is the case.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). A friend wants to play matchmaker for you. Let this person do it — you are ready for a new love. Take the time you need to make personal changes, and don't let anyone rush you in making decisions. Phone a fellow Pisces.

State takes madness to another level

Comments on the recently completed Illinois High School Association boys Class AA basketball postseason...

It did not take modern math to rate the state finals at Peoria as the best ever. Consider an Elite Eight field with a composite record of 221-20, add to that champion Peoria Manual and Harvey Thornton as No. 1 and 3 nationally, and you have super March Madness.

Taken from top to bottom, the brackets of the Elite Eight showed combined records of 53-9, 52-7, 58-2 and 58-2, and with Manual at 28-1 entering the quarterfinals, Thornton at 30-0 and Chicago Whitney Young at 30-1, you probably already know what the push was for after the final clipping of a net by four-peat champ Manual.

Count on it — another class will be added to the IHSA boys series. A three-class basketball system is as predictable as an eclipse of the moon or the visibility of a comet named Hale-Bopp.

Understandably, the push for another class comes from the Chicago Public League — where Young became an Elite Eight qualifier by defeating Manley to conclude a race that starts annually with 72 entrants.

According to J.W. Smith, director of Public League athletics, the present demand is for two Chicago schools rather than just one to qualify for the finals, but the reality of such could easily lead to a third class.

"I'd say there's a chance it could happen," Smith said of Chicago sending a second team to state.

"We intend to open it for discussion among coaches and athletic directors. After that, we've got to work something out with the IHSA.

"From my discussions, the IHSA is open to considering it. This would only be for basketball. All other sports would maintain the same format of Public League teams qualifying directly into the state finals."

Finals? The IHSA refers to its current two-class boys basketball tourney in Peoria as the "March Madness Experience." Consider the number of corporate sponsors involved and increased television exposure, and you appreciate even more the words of IHSA Executive Director Dave Fry, who said, "In just one year, we have made the March Madness Experience playing in Peoria the preeminent high school sporting event in America."

Count on it. A third class is on the way as sure as you can say money, interest or Chicago.

OVERTIME: The most regrettable aspect of the Class AA series occurred at Chicago Richards, where Thornton

Collinsville High fans will say Granite City's 2-0 girls soccer victory Thursday was due to two lucky bounces.

Granite City faithful will say it was a matter of being in the right place at the right time and the ability to put the ball in the back of the net.

It had all the makings of a great episode in point and counterpoint. A non-biased opinion says it was a little of both. Or better yet, that may be the politically correct way to say it.

The teams were locked in one of their classic scoreless tug-of-war contests through the first 37 minutes of play before Amber Hubert scored to break the stalemate.

Collinsville (1-2) was moving the ball upfield on a rush when Granite City stole the ball and made a quick transition.

When the Lady Warriors' Erika Todd got behind two Kahoks defenders and raced toward the net, Julie Stout came out of goal to cut down the angle. Stout actually got a foot on the ball but it squirted to the left, where Hubert came streaking down the left side. Hubert collected the loose ball and just tapped it in the net from 20 yards out.

Was Hubert's goal a result of being in the right place at the right time or a lucky bounce?

"Julie was kind of caught in between and they just got a lucky bounce I guess," Collinsville coach Deana Wallace said. "The ball must have hit a clump of grass."

Granite City coach Gene Baker said Hubert benefited from playing her position while trailing the play.

"I think (Stout) came out simply because we had a lot of pressure and it was a support ball," Baker said. "She was caught. I think their keeper played a pretty good game. She made some nice saves.

"Amber came off the bench and gave us a boost. We have got depth if we get healed again. It's not that Collinsville didn't play well. They played a good game. I thought we played pretty sound."

Defense helps Collinsville dodge GCHS

By Patrick C. Heston

The Collinsville Kahoks used a pair of outstanding defensive plays to cut short Granite City rallies and preserve a hard-fought 3-2 victory Thursday in the Southwestern Conference opener for both teams.

With the score 1-1 in the bottom of the fifth, the Warriors' Jeff Hayden led off with a sharp single to left. Brian Kamadulski, pinch-hitting for Mike Ahlvers, attempted to sacrifice Hayden to second.

But he popped the bunt in the air toward the first base line. Kahoks pitcher Greg Althardt raced from the mound, dove toward the line and caught the ball right before it hit the ground. Althardt quickly got to his feet and fired to first, where Hayden, who had scampered for second, was doubled off.

But the Kahoks' biggest defensive play of the afternoon occurred in the sixth inning.

Granite City rally sinks Kahoks 10-5

By Brian Bretsch

Sloppy.

The softball gods were spotted on more than one occasion closing their eyes in disbelief in the game between Collinsville and Granite City Thursday at the Jaycees Sports Complex.

Granite City won 10-5, but it was a contest both Lady Warriors coach Deb Germann and Kahoks coach Sara Majka hoped their teams got out of their system.

Granite City 10, Collinsville 5

GRANITE CITY	005	113	0—10	5	5
COLLINSVILLE	030	000	2— 5	4	5

GRANITE CITY: Reeder 1-4; Shanafelt 2-4; Tapp 1-4 2B RBI-2; Greathouse 1-4 RBI-2. WP-Stratman. IP-7 H-4 R-5 ER-3 BB-4 SO-3.

COLLINSVILLE: Duensing 1-4 2B; Hester 1-4; Fitzgerald 1-2 3B RBI; Miller 0-1 RBI; LP-Meesnier. IP-7 H-5 R-10 ER-7 BB-10 SO-9.

The game featured plenty of bases on balls (14), one batter hit, 10 errors and a total of eight wild pitches or passed balls. Each team had one player thrown out at the plate. Each team had a player tagged out in a rundown. On top of that, the teams combined for eight total hits.

The game basically came down to which team could capitalize on the other's misfortunes.

" 'Breaks' is the opportune word," Germann said. "It was kind of sloppy. We both walked a bunch. We had one inning where we had a couple of errors. We turned it around and started hitting the ball a little bit better and we started to make the plays."

After a relatively calm first inning, the Kahoks (1-1) jumped on the scoreboard first and took advantage of the Lady Warriors' miscues.

The Kahoks loaded the bases in the second on a pair of walks and an error. With two outs, Amy Reynolds scored on a wild pitch. Andi Serwatka

Defusing Mathews, Unser incidents no easy task

Patrick Heston

Under the "We can't have you doing that" category in sports last week, St. Louis Cardinals pitcher T.J. Mathews' six-game suspension was upheld and Bobby Unser pleaded innocent to driving a snowmobile in a wilderness area.

Mathews was suspended for throwing at a Cincinnati Reds player. "I felt like hitting somebody," he explained, "so I hit somebody. They're a pretty arrogant team. I don't like that."

Rumor has it that Mathews is being hired by 29 NFL teams to throw footballs at the Dallas Cowboys during the 1997 season.

Mathews seems to feel that being arrogant is a quality worthy of punishment. Specifically, of having balls thrown at you. He may be right. But, still, the suspension makes sense. If you throw a ball, you may hit someone. If you hit someone, you may hurt someone. If you hurt enough someones, you may hurt an entire team.

That, it seems, may have been Mathews' intent.

You have to give the National League officials some credit. They're no dummies. They know the Cincinnati Reds are arrogant. Who doesn't? But, whether they agree with Mathews' philosophy or not, they can't afford the massive hole in the schedule that would come about if T.J. knocked off all the Reds players with high-speed fastballs.

I'm certain if it had been earlier in the year, when the schedule makers could have done some jockeying and juggling of times and dates and places, the Mathews' fiasco would have been ignored.

Yet the league almost had to do something. After all, throwing at arrogant players on arrogant teams could spread to other professional sports, quickly diminishing rosters. I mean, where would the NFL be without the Dallas Cowboys?

Meanwhile, former race car champion Bobby Unser was in federal court Tuesday due to a little problem regarding his off-track driving.

Unser is accused of violating the federal Wilderness Act of 1964 which says, in essence, that motor vehicles cannot be driven in designated wilderness areas.

"They're not going to prove anything," said Unser confidently, sounding somewhat like Al Capone on his way to his tax evasion trial.

But Capone was smart enough to keep his vast fleet of snowmobiles far away from

The teams played tug of war to start the second half and clogged up the middle of the field, forcing the ball outside.

Collinsville had the only shot on net during the first 10 minutes of the second half.

The Lady Warriors (2-1) converted their first shot of the second half at 58:59. Felicia Mohsen blasted a shot just out of the penalty box. The ball hit a Kahoks defender and bounced right back to Mohsen — who ripped her second attempt past Mandy Waitukaitis, who didn't have a chance at making the save.

Was Mohsen's goal a matter of being in the right place at the right time or a lucky bounce?

"They came down and we gave them a corner kick. They scored off a ball that was played out but was not cleared out," Wallace said. "It went off a defender. It was another that bounced (to them) but we need to put more pressure on the ball, especially in our defensive box."

The Kahoks' best opportunity to climb back into the game came with 10:32 remaining. Leslie Thompson broke free on the right wing, dribbled past two defenders and flighted a curling shot over the outstretched arms of goalkeeper Shannon Roth.

At first glance, it appeared Roth had touched the ball to set up a corner kick. However, the wind held up Thompson's shot and it curled away from Roth.

"Really, both strikers up top played a very good game," Wallace said. "They were working hard off the ball. They helped the midfield. They were checking back. They did a lot of great things. They only had a couple of minutes of rest the whole game."

the Colorado-New Mexico boarder. It's just an unwritten rule that everyone should know. Kind of like "Don't speed through small towns in Arkansas." Unser and a friend forgot the rule during a blizzard on Dec. 20.

The 63-year-old three-time Indianapolis 500 winner claims the pair were trying to save their lives. They became lost in the blizzard, had no idea where they were, tried to get to shelter or civilization, eventually ditched their snowmobiles and nearly died after two days of wandering through deep snow.

All the U.S. government will say is that Unser and his friend did it intentionally.

What is this country coming to when people intentionally try to save their own lives? And what kind of anarchy would we have on our hands if the government didn't step in and do something to keep it from happening? Why can't people like Bobby Unser and his friend be more considerate of government regulations and sit and wait in the drifting snow and dropping temperatures for U.S. government park rangers to come to the rescue?

Government officials are such sticklers for regulations. Like making you pay your taxes every year whether you want to or not. Or telling you to keep your snowmobiles off government property — even in a life-and-death emergency.

I think I can rectify both these problems.

If the federal government is looking for someone who really did something intentionally, let's give them T.J. Mathews. He'll probably get off with a slap on the hand. Then again, he may run into some IRS agents and start throwing 1040s their direction.

And if somebody should be suspended, let it be Unser. I'm sure he'll be more than happy to have his snowmobile license suspended in Colorado. Then again, he may be so thrilled to have the ordeal over that he celebrates by driving his race car at full throttle through a series of small towns in Arkansas.

But maybe the best way to solve both problems at once is simply to have Unser take the Cincinnati Reds on a snowmobile ride in a wilderness area and to have Mathews nail a couple of park rangers with a fastball. And maybe some IRS agents and a few Dallas Cowboys while he's at it.

But, of course, we can't have our sports figures doing that, can we?

walked to load the bases again. Jennifer Koste then hit a smash to the first base side, and Jessica Stratman came off the mound to make a nice play and throw to first. But Kery Lassiter dropped the ball. Koste bumped into Lassiter and the ball rolled away, allowing two runners to score and make it 3-0.

Granite City wasted no time in coming right back in its next at-bat.

Stratman led off the third with a walk and went to second on a passed ball. After Jan Shanafelt reached on a bunt single, Deb Mesnier unleashed a wild pitch, allowing Stratman to score and Shanafelt to move up to second. Chrissie Greathouse then belted a long single that plated Shanafelt and Jenna Wright.

Greathouse

Greathouse's hit tied the score at 3-3. Later in the inning, Amy Tapp stroked a double to left center field that scored two more runners.

The Lady Warriors went on to score single runs in the fourth and fifth innings to increase their lead to 7-3. Granite City finished out its scoring with three runs in the sixth.

"It's not the perfect game I would like to see," Germann said. "Obviously it was pretty sloppy, but it is a win."

The Kahoks did not bow out quietly. Amy Fitzgerald brought the Kahoks' bench to their feet in the seventh with an RBI triple to left center that scored Emily Hester. Michelle Miller followed with an RBI groundout to score Fitzgerald.

"Granite came out and played a real good game," Majka said. "They played real well. I'm not so sure we were necessarily as ready for them as they were for us.

"I think (we) allowed (ourselves) to get frustrated with each other's play. I thought we came back nicely in the last inning."

Jason Dix, who was running for Greg Winfield, took second on Greg Brumley's single — which also scored Eric Edwards, who had opened the inning two outs earlier with a double. That cut Collinsville's lead to 3-2. Tim Wallace then lined a single to left center, which was charged aggressively by center fielder David Lewis.

Lewis came up firing as Dix tore down the third base line. Catcher Kent Muniz, who had positioned himself perfectly just up the line from home plate, caught the one-hopper an instant before Dix arrived. Muniz survived the head-on collision and held onto the ball.

When umpire Ted Daniels was certain Muniz still had the ball, he called Dix out, ending the threat and the inning.

"I knew I had to come up firing," said Lewis, "so I threw it as hard as I could. I couldn't let them score the tying run."

"It was a big-time play," said Collinsville coach Steve McFall.

"The kid made a heck of a throw out there," Granite City coach Gus Lignoul said. "I thought we had it tied right there. We had the momentum. But the throw was right on the money. It took a perfect throw by the fielder and a perfect play by the catcher, and that's what they got. It was a great play all around."

Collinsville scored an unearned run in the second inning. With runners on second and third and no outs, Ken Lutz attempted to steal third. Jeff Hayden's throw was low and skipped into the dirt and squirted into left field, allowing Lutz to score.

The Warriors drew even in the fourth when Scott Smallie singled and stole second. He raced home two outs later on Kirk Brumley's clutch single.

The Kahoks crossed the plate twice in the decisive sixth inning. After a harmless ground out, Jeff Slaznik sent a ringing single to center. That was followed by an RBI double off the bat of Althardt, who then took third on a wild pitch by Dustin Brewer. Althardt came home one out later on Ken Lutz's single to right.

Granite City threatened in the home half of the seventh after the first two men were out. Pinch hitter Vince Whittenburg drew a walk. Edwards then hit a rope into right, putting the tying run on second. But Smallie grounded out second to first to end the game.

Althardt fanned six Warriors on his way to an eight-hit, complete-game victory. Brewer also went the distance but took the loss.

But the Warriors weren't kind to the Kahoks' ace, hitting him hard all afternoon.

"We're making improvements at the plate," Lignoul said. "Our kids were meeting the ball solidly. They were getting the hits. And that was against a very tough pitcher. I'm happy with the way we hit the ball."

"This was a baseball game," said McFall, whose Kahoks are now 3-0 overall and 1-0 in the SWC.

"I think it was a well-played game," said Lignoul, whose Warriors fell to 1-3-1, 0-1. "In fact, this was the best game we've played all year. I'm proud of our kids. They kept fighting back. They never quit.

"The kids are making improvement. They are working hard. They still have a great attitude. We're going to keep plugging away."

The Warriors played at Waterloo on Friday and hosted New Athens in a Saturday doubleheader. Their next game is 4:15 p.m. Monday at home against CBC.

The Kahoks were scheduled to play O'Fallon on Friday and will visit Civic Memorial at 4 p.m. Monday.

gained a sectional victory over Chicago Brother Rice — whose school and fans gained nothing via racial slurs and taunts.

Among other things, Brother Rice fans chanted "Buckwheat" at Thornton guard Tamon Holloway and yelled "hooked on phonics" and "ACT" at center Melvin Ely, who has yet to meet NCAA standards to qualify for a scholarship to Fresno State.

Even though Brother Rice sent a letter of apology to Thornton, Fry and the IHSA remain unsatisfied.

Said Fry: "When you do something that's aimed with intent to hurt someone, a simple 'I'm sorry' isn't an appropriate response.

"What's more appropriate is saying, 'I've hurt you and now I put myself at your mercy for forgiveness.' The key is that it should be more of a corrective punishment."

Said Thornton principal William O'Neal: "The thing that disturbs me is that the youngsters felt comfortable (chanting) over and over. There were parents and administrators there that didn't say a word. There's no excuse for that."

Stay tuned to this one, folks. Fry and the IHSA have been hooked on sportsmanship, and sanctions are sure to follow.

SKIN CANCER SCREENING
Over 500,000 new cases of skin cancer are reported every year. Fortunately, skin cancer is one of the most treatable and curable forms of cancer provided it's discovered early.

Memorial Hospital's Skin Cancer Screening Program is an outpatient service designed to help you detect pre-cancerous and/or cancerous skin lesions. Skin cancerous lesions occur most frequently on exposed skin surfaces, such as the head, arms and legs.

Memorial Hospital's Skin Cancer Screening physicians - members of Memorial's Medical Staff who are volunteering their services for this screening - will examine the head, arms and legs for suspicious skin lesions. Any other areas of concern will be examined at the patient's request.

Screenings are conducted by appointment only. If you are on a restricted time schedule, please understand there may be a brief wait before being seen by the physician.

Date, Time, Place:
Screenings will be conducted on Wednesday, April 16
from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. and Thursday, April 17
from 8 a.m. to noon
Memorial's Physical Therapy Department

Information:
A limited number of appointments are available. To schedule an appointment, call the Physical Therapy Department at 257-5250.

This Skin Cancer Screening program, sponsored by Memorial Group, Inc. and Memorial Foundation, Inc. on behalf of Memorial Hospital, is conducted as a free community service by volunteer plastic surgeons and dermatologists from Memorial's Medical Staff.

'97 Escort

New design, major upgrades make this the small-car buyer's smart choice

By Tom Strongman

The all-new 1997 Ford Escort is a lot more car for about the same money. Sleek new styling, major upgrades to the powertrain, suspension and interior, and a competitive price make the 1997 Ford Escort the smart choice for small-car buyers.

The all-new Escort offers:

A new 2.0-liter engine that delivers 25 percent more horsepower, increased torque and excellent fuel economy;

Upgraded five-speed manual and automatic transmissions;

Enhanced ride and handling, thanks to a revised suspension system;

100,000-mile tuneup intervals;

Optional remote keyless entry system;

And an Integrated Control Panel that puts audio and climate controls in an easy-to-use location.

Structure and Appearance

Building a quality car that achieves a fun-to-drive feel begins with innovative engineering. Escort's softer, more rounded shape delivers a contemporary, aerodynamic look.

Bumpers, body-side moldings and door handles are color-keyed on the LX model. Styled bolt-through wheel covers complete the look and help prevent theft.

The Escort is 4 inches longer than before and provides 100 cubic feet of interior passenger and cargo space in the sedan, and 120 cubic feet in the wagon. The sedan's spacious trunk meets customer demands for ample cargo space.

The Escort wagon also has been redesigned. Only the lift-gate, some trim panels in the cargo area and the cargo glass area are carried over to the new wagons.

Escort is available as a four-door sedan in standard Escort, LX and sport trim levels and as a five-door LX wagon. A new two-door coupe will be introduced next year.

Improved ergonomics and greater comfort and convenience characterize the interior. Almost every interior component, except the door handles, is new.

The central feature is the Integrated Control Panel (ICP), which places the audio system, clock and climate controls in one easy-to-use location.

The standard audio system includes an AM FM stereo and separate clock display, with easy-to-reach button controls. New premium speakers are included in the standard sound system. For the more serious audiophile, there's an optional trunk-mounted six-disc CD player and a premium amplifier that pumps out 20 watts per channel, 80 watts total.

Escort's front and rear seats have new height-adjustable shoulder belts and two-way adjustable head restraints to accommodate the tallest to the shortest family member.

The front doors have map pockets, integrated with the speaker grill. Windows feature solar-tinted glass to screen glare and heat. A 60 40 split-fold rear seat is standard, except on the base model.

Models equipped with the optional integrated child seat have a single-fold rear seat. Larger and upgraded rear-seat heating ducts provide additional comfort.

Three console-mounted cup holders are standard, two in the front and one in the rear, and they hold everything from coffee cups to juice boxes.

The 2.0-liter, four-cylinder engine delivers 110 horsepower at 5,000 rpm and 125 foot-pounds of torque at 3,750 rpm to help drivers merge confidently into traffic at highway speeds.

Platinum-tipped spark plugs provide tuneup intervals of 100,000 miles under normal driving conditions with regular filter and fluid changes.

The engine is paired with a standard five-speed manual or optional four-speed automatic transmission. Both transmissions have been tuned for better shift quality and improved performance.

Escort features standard front disc and rear drum brakes. Four-wheel anti-lock brakes are optional.

Revisions to the new Escort's standard power-steering system provide better balanced, more precise and responsive steering control and improved road feel.

Escort's new look and performance are complemented by a host of features, including child safety rear-door locks, variable speed wipers and 24-hour roadside assistance.

POINTS & PLUGS

By Rick Stoff

Teenage drivers are involved in 2.8 million accidents in the U.S. each year, statistics show. "Teaching Your Teen to Drive: A Partnership for Survival" is an instructional kit containing a handbook, parent guide and video. It is available from the Auto Club of Missouri by sending a check for $26.95 to AAA Traffic and Safety Department, 12901 N. Forty Drive, St. Louis, Mo., 63141.

Also available is a teacher's guide that enables the materials to be used in a school setting.

The battle for title of best-selling car in America has long been a game for the Ford Taurus and Toyota Camry, but February brought a new contender. The country's best-seller for the month was the Chevrolet Cavalier, which exceeded 31,000 sales, while Camry achieved 29,000 and Taurus 27,000. Ford Escort and Honda Accord closed in on the leaders with about 25,000 sales each.

Half of America's best-selling vehicles for February were trucks. The Ford and Chevrolet full-size pickups were first and second, at 60,000 and 43,000 units. Dodge Ram and Ford Explorer both scored nearly 29,000 sales, and Ford Ranger approached 24,000.

Ford already can't build Explorers fast enough to meet the demand. The flooding Ohio River made matters worse by filling more than 2,000 Explorers and Ranger pickups with water while they were awaiting shipment from an assembly plant in Louisville, Ky. The company lost another shift of production, equaling nearly 600 vehicles, when river water covered employee parking lots at the plant.

Drivers in the southwest aren't exactly tripping over their extension cords to lease the General Motors EV1 electric car. After three months on the market, EV1 leases total 155. (The car cannot be purchased.) It is offered at 26 dealerships in Arizona and California.

If you plan to go night-hunting for UFOs on remote country roads this summer, you'll need some of this gear to guide them down. The Wagner Lighting division of St. Louis-based Cooper Automotive has introduced a line of auxiliary lighting for trucks, tractors and trailers that includes a revolving beacon warning light and a 250,000-candlepower hand-held spotlight. Be careful not to burn the paint off your truck.

Most people could get by with a small car for most of their commuting needs, but occasionally have to transport heavier loads. As a result, many drivers waste fuel and create excess pollution by driving around cars that are heavier than usually needed.

Mercedes-Benz is experimenting in Europe with a plan that would allow buyers of its new, very small, two-seat Smart commuter car to purchase an optional partial lease of other vehicles such as trucks that could be borrowed as needed.
